

THE OHIO STATE UNIVERSITY
OFFICE OF INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

CENTER FOR LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

Captured in the Cordillera Blanca in the Northern Andes of Peru by undergraduate student Gregory Strine, "A Day in the Life", named Honorable Mention in the People category of the 2015 International Photography Exhibition

NEWSLETTER: March 5, 2018

Tinker Field Research Grants Available

The Tinker Foundation has awarded a Field Research grant to the Center for Latin American Studies, which will be used to provide graduate students with funds for travel to and within Latin America to conduct pre-dissertation research.

This award, combined with matching funds from the Office of International Affairs, will provide $20,000 in 2018 to graduate and professional students seeking to travel in Latin America for master's thesis and doctoral research. Grant funding is renewable for a three-year period. Up to $3,000 per student may be awarded.

The application is available on the Center for Latin American Studies website with a deadline to apply by March 15, 2018.

For more information, please visit: <https://clas.osu.edu/funding/grad/tinker-field>.

Ryan Crumley
conducting research in Peru, 2014.

Call for Proposals: 2018 Symposium on Indigenous Languages

The second Symposium on Indigenous Languages and Cultures of Latin America (ILCLA), organized in conjunction with the fourth Symposium on Teaching and Learning Indigenous Languages of Latin America (STLILLA 2018) brings together instructors, practitioners, activists, indigenous leaders, scholars and learners who study indigenous languages and cultures of Latin America and the Caribbean.

ILCLA/STLILLA will take place October 25-28, 2018 at Ohio State. Proposals are now being accepted for individual presentations and group panels related to one of eight thematic tracks. Proposals are due March 31, 2018. More information about the thematic tracks and application process can be found at: <https://clas.osu.edu/ilcla/call-papers-eng>

Summer Seminars Abroad in Havana, Cuba

The Center for Latin American Studies and the Department of Spanish and Portuguese at The Ohio State University announce this year's intensive Summer Seminars Abroad, a 16-day workshop in Spanish linguistics in Havana, Cuba. The purpose of the program is to provide participants with an opportunity to analyze and practice the Spanish language in a natural linguistic and cultural context, and to receive graduate university credit for that experience.

The program, to take place July 9-25, 2018, is intended primarily for Spanish teachers. Application is open, however, to graduate students from Spanish and other disciplines who have a demonstrated ability in the use of the Spanish language and a need for this type of course. Both native and non-native speakers of Spanish are invited to apply. For more information, and to apply for the program, please visit the website: <https://u.osu.edu/ssast/>

Lecture: Dr. Gilbert Joseph

The Center for Latin American Studies and the Department of History are pleased to announce that on March 23rd, from 3:00 - 4:30 pm, Dr. Gilbert Joseph will be presenting a talk on "The Once and Future Revolution: Social Upheaval and the Challenge of Rule during Mexico's Long Twentieth Century" at 165 Thompson Library. More information about Dr. Joseph's work and this upcoming event can be found here.

Interested in Studying Abroad?

If you are thinking about studying abroad next spring, the programs in Curitiba, Brazil and Barranquilla, Colombia are great options.

In Curitiba, you can complete your GE Foreign Language requirement in just one semester while learning Portuguese, experiencing Carnival, and living with a host family in Columbus' sister city!

In Barranquilla, you can also complete the GE Foreign Language requirement while participating in intensive Spanish courses. You will live with a host family and get to know Colombia's Caribbean coast.

For more information, you may contact Jenny Kraft.

Collaborative Research Project: Latinx Placemaking in the Midwest

Professors and graduate students from across the Midwest are taking part in the collaborative research project, "Building Sustainable Worlds: Latinx Placemaking in the Midwest." This project is funded by a major grant from the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation/Humanities Without Walls consortium. This project examines the significance of Latinx efforts in building sustainable communities in both urban and small-town environments of the region as these appear in formal and everyday performance; literature; and community, cultural, and arts centers. For more information, visit the project's website.

Less Commonly Taught Languages Summer Programs Available

The Consortium of Latin American Studies Programs (CLASP) has released the list of Summer 2018 offerings for the intensive study of Portuguese, Haitian Creole, and indigenous Latin American languages. Please visit the CLASP website for more information about courses available this summer!

University of New Mexico Latin American and Iberian Institute: Richard E. Greenleaf Visiting Library Scholar travel award

The University of New Mexico Latin American and Iberian Institute (LAI) and the University Libraries are pleased to invite applications for the Richard E. Greenleaf Visiting Library Scholar travel award. The deadline for applications is Friday, March 31, 2017 at 5:00 pm (MT).

Attached is the Call for Applications. For more information and to apply, go to <http://laii.unm.edu/funding/greenleaf-visiting-library-scholar-funding.html>.

Center for Latin American Studies Website

M.A. - Latin American Studies

Symposium on Indigenous Languages and Cultures of Latin America

Andean Music Ensemble

Mayan Cultures Archive

Support CLAS

SUBSCRIBE TO CLAS
EMAIL LIST

FORWARD
THIS EMAIL

Copyright © 2015. All Rights Reserved.