

Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) Fellowships
Spring 2019 Competition for Graduate and Professional Students for Quechua, Portuguese, and other Latin American Languages

The Center for Latin American Studies at The Ohio State University (OSU) is seeking applications for fellowships for Spring Semester 2019 under the U.S. Department of Education's Title VI Foreign Language and Area Studies (FLAS) Fellowship program. These fellowships are available to all full-time graduate and professional students at all levels and in any department who are pursuing a course of study that requires advanced foreign language and area studies training. All applicants must be U.S. citizens or permanent residents.

LANGUAGE ELIGIBILITY: Awards will be made through CLAS for Quechua and Portuguese. Applications for other Latin American languages will also be considered on a case-by-case basis. Applicants are responsible for contacting appropriate language departments to establish that their requested level of language instruction will be offered in spring 2019.

SPRING 2019 FELLOWSHIPS:

Spring 2019 fellowships are expected to carry a stipend of $7,500 and an award for full tuition and partial OSU fees for students in programs within the OSU Graduate School or up to $9,000 in tuition and fee support for professional school students or students studying at other institutions.

Subject to approval, Spring 2019 FLAS fellowships may also be used for foreign language and area studies at other U.S. or foreign institutions. Because FLAS Fellowships are language and area study-based, all Spring 2019 award recipients must be enrolled in at least one three-credit, graded, classroom-taught language course and at least one three-credit, graded, classroom-taught area studies course during the tenure of the fellowship. Spring 2019 award recipients also must be full-time fellows (enrolled in 12 credit hours).

In order to gauge each student's language progress during the period of their fellowship, recipients are also required to take a language proficiency entrance examination at the beginning of the fellowship and an exit examination at the end of the academic year. FLAS Fellows are also required to meet with the FLAS Coordinator prior to the start of the spring semester to discuss their course load and program of study. In addition, all recipients are required to submit a post-fellowship online report to the U.S. Department of Education, and to participate in brief biennial surveys on their job placement and use of language skills for eight years post-graduation. If a Fellow fails to meet any of these requirements, money may be withheld and/or he/she will be required to return the money given to them including payments for tuition.

PRIORITIES: In awarding Spring 2019 fellowships, CLAS will follow the FLAS competition priorities announced by the U.S. Department of Education in its 2018-2022 Title VI NRC/FLAS Request for Proposals, which include considering both an applicant's academic merit and financial need.

AWARD NOTIFICATIONS: Fellowship results are anticipated to be announced by November 1, 2018.
